DIESEL EXHAUST FLUID
SUPERIOR EMISSION CONTROL

WHAT IS DEF?

DEF (Diesel Exhaust Fluid) is, at a chemical Level, is a combination of deionized water and urea that transform harmful nitrous oxide emissions into harmless water and gas.

All modern diesel engines with selective catalytic reduction (SCR) units in their exhaust system can benefit from SuperBlue. These include diesel-powered vehicles such as trucks, buses, tractors, cars, vans and off-road vehicles.

SCR engines use a diesel exhaust fluid (DEF) such as Superblue. The fluid is stored in a separate tank in the system and injected into the exhaust stream. This injection causes a chemical reaction in the SCR catalytic converter which turns oxides of nitrogen (NOx) into environmentally friendly components, diatomic nitrogen (N2) and water. As a result, selective catalytic reduction systems are being used as a sustainable and effective way of protecting the environment.

Super Blue will help your business to reduce harmful emissions and it will reduce your fuel costs by up to seven percent. The product can be stored for 18 months. With a low freezing point of -11°C, it can be used in most weather conditions.

WHY QUALITY MATTER?

Various actions can affect the quality of DEF/SuperBlue. To prevent contamination, it is imperative that foreign matters do not come into contact with the solution. Using contaminated SuperBlue can lead to damage to your expensive SCR & high replacement costs. Buying DEF from SuperBlue is a guarantee of the correct specification required for your SCR technology.
